CARLISLE, Pa. Dec. 28.—The Indian athletes of the Government school are to be bridled like the Eastern college athletes, and hereafter there can be no howl regarding lack of eligibility rules at Carlisle when the redmen have triumphed over the football elevens of the leading universities of the country. Following the charges of laxity in the conduct of athletics at the school, the tarlisle Athletic association met and considered wave and means for putting the aborigines on the same footing as the college athletes with whom the Indians compete. After considering the situation carefully, the athletic association drew up the following state ment, which includes the new eligibility requirement which will go into effect on January 1, 1908:

"Of necessity, the eligibility rules for athletics at Carlisle can not exactly coincide with those of the universities, as conditions here are entirely different. Throughout the Indian service will be agreed upon the arrive until late to day.

It is generally believed that no attempt will be made by the organization to place a club in Chicago, although all of the members of the amove. President O'Brien today reiterated his opinion that there would be no attempt to invade the territory of the American and National leagues and said that he expected the question to come before the meeting for discussion, but did not believe that any direct action would be taken looking to the establishment of a club in Chicago for some time.

If it is decided to make any change of the circuit of the association there will be a great rush on the part of the minor leaguers to take up the territory that may be vacated. The members of the association, however, as far as known, are generally opposed to vacating any territory at the present time for the purpose of putting a club into Chicago.

Fred West, the popular bicycle rider, and brother of Tommy West, the familiar five years, and students often remain longer, and have been allowed to represent Carlisle in athletics as long as they have been here. There were two members of the year's football team who had played more than four years.

'This being the case, and there having been perhaps some unjust criticism as to the length of time players were allowed to represent Carlisle, and also to the custom of playing Indiau employes, it has been decided to enact and enforce eligibility rules, preventing any students representing Carlisle in foot WEST CHAMPIONSHIP proves, it has been decided to enact and enforce eligibility rules, preventing any students representing Carlisle in foot-ball more than four years, and provid-ing that only regularly enrolled stu-dents and not employes shall be elig-ible to represent the school in athletics in future contests.

O'BRIEN SAYS CLUBS WILL NOT CHANGE

American Association Will Not Invade Chicago at Present Time.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The owners of the baseball clubs in the American association gathered here today for the TO FOUR-YEAR COURSE annual meeting of their organization. The meeting was scheduled to begin this afternoon, but it is doubtful if any business will be attempted before tomorrow, as some of the members of the league did not arrive until late to for athleties at Carlisle can not exactly coincide with those of the universities, as conditions here are entirely different. Throughout the Indian service—at agency schools and Government Indian schools of all kinds—it is customary, and has been always, for young Indian employes, who as a rule, are former pupils, to participate in the athleties of their school while so employed, and this custom has obtained at Carlisle to a very limited extent.

"This is not a fact that we attempt to cover up or deny; it is a custom of the Indian service schools, for which we make no apology. Fifty-two of the fifty-four members of the 1907 football squad are absolutely bons fide students at the school, and are entitled in every respect to represent Carlisle.

"They are as fine a body of men, morally, of as correct habits and gentlemantly demeanor as any school boy or university student in the country. The school is proud of them all, including the three or four boys who had their preliminary training at Haskell, and upon some of whom a cruel, unjust and villainous attack bas been published in criticism of their conduct before coming to Carlisle.

"It is a fact that not a single protest has come to Carlisle from a university or college that has met the Indians this year, either as to their edigibility or the conduct of the players.

BETTING CHANGES IN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—After going along for a week or more at 10 to 8, the betting on the Owen Moran-Abe Attell bout changed for the first time last night, the Rebrew champion being favorite, at odds of 7 to 10. The reason for the falling of the Moran stock is attributed principally to Attell's having cent to town a thousand dollars of his own money to be bet on himself at the best price. As far as attength is concerned, the Britisher has attained physical perfection. His work from now on will be for the sole purpose of developing speed. He will do the last of his boxing today and tomorrow, with Wille O'Neil, Alf Wicks and Posy Jimmy Britt. Attell also is in good condition. Referee Jim Jeffries will arrive here Monday morning.

For Papke must not be hailed as the greatest of the middleweights until he shall have conquered Sam Langford, the Boston negro.

Papke has a mighty rush, great speed, tremendous power, and the penliar ability to stand up under blows that would fell men of constituions which contained less iron. Since the young fellow began fighting last March he has knocked out almost every man who has faced him. Some, like Pat O'Keefe in Philadelphia, have staved to the end, but at fearful cost. Some of the papers here have become suddenly alive to the brutality of these contests. Indeed, it looks as if a movement were being started to put an end to them. England, the nursery of "the neble art or self-defense," has now been unable to produce a heavyweight en might, the Hehrew champion for forty years. Pupils are fostered and encouraged by every means by the National Sporting club, while not only in the working districts of London, but all the big cities, there are being started to put an end to them. Obviously, the time has come to asholish the sport—if it can be called a apport. Moreover, its abolition now will not involve any sacrifice of prestige by the English "ring." The Henley Regatta committee has given a good lead; they might in future refuse to put up any prize for an international competition. That is one way of maintaining their prestige as a sporting nation.
